THE UNION.

"Keep Step to the Music of the Union." Keep step to the music-the music that thrills The nation's heart, from the sea to the hills, And which in one glorious authors combines Its holiest hopes and its noblest designs,

Keep step to the music-though traitors advance with a banner of black, and with aplifted lance, Be our footfall but firm they will soon pass away do Like the dew-trops of night in the brightness

Keep step to the mude-that seeg of the stars do Our step shall be true, and THE Union shall be

The watchward and hope of the the brave and th free! Keep step to the music-and trample in score Onfranticide feemen of treachery born;

Tear down their black banner, and raise in its stead. The fing 'neath which freemen and heroes can troad, Keen step to the music-its tones are as dear As the voices of home, to the patriot's ear; The march is a Nation's whose States e'er shall be Distinct as the billows, yet one as the sea.
